GERMAN ARMY FLEES IN DISORDER IN POLAND

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

HITLER SEEMS TO HAVE HELD his home-front fairly steady thus far in face of the rebellion by the Prussian high command, but we need feel no great disappointment over that since our main interest really lies in the military aspect of the situation—and things are coming our way fast.

Of course it would be a matter of vast rejoicing if civilian Germany should bring a quick ending to the war by deserting the gangster whom British Prime Minister Churchill yesterday labeled with an appropriate name which newspaper boys delicately euphemized into "bounder." However, the belief is widespreading among statesmen and military men that we shall get a more lasting peace if we achieve it through a crushing defeat of Germany's armed might on the battle-field. We've had one experienc of itting Prussian militarism sav its skin by yelling "Kamerad."

Whichever way you look at it, we have the satisfaction of knowing that, as Churchill told the troops in Normandy yesterday, "there are grave signs of weakness" in the Reich and the war "might come to an end earlier than we have a right to say." Th enemy's 'central powr is crumbling."

Hitler's blood purge, which is reported to have liquidated some of the greatest of the Prussian high command, and a host of lesser officers who supported them, is doing a grand two-fold job for the Allies:

1. It's saving us the post-war trouble of removing these keystones of militarism from circulation permanently.

2. It's knocking out Germany's best military brains and thus is vastly simplifying out task of smashing the Reich's military machine in the field.

These Prussian war-lords represent near perfection in military expertness. It has been bred into them through generations in which the powerful Junker class has provided the high command of the German army. Hitler may pride himself on his own military intuition but he neither can compete with the highly trained professional whom he is purging, nor can he replace them with his supporters among the less experienced generals.

WE ARE WITNESSING the effects of the rebellion and the purge in the German disaster on the Russian front where the red armies continue to tear through the retreating Hitlerites with almost unbelievable speed. Hitler himself invited this catastrophe months ago by refusing to listen to the counsel of his high command that the German front be pulled back and shortened. That produced the revolt which has deprived him of his best military talent.

Probably it would be more accurate to say that his attitude hastened the arrival of a rebellion which was almost inevitable in the long run. Hitler long had known that if it became obvious Germany

Ruthless Nazi Purge Directed By Himmler

Dr. Heinrich Himmler

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON, July 24.—Heinrich Himmler's prowling strong-arm Gestapo squads today were reported carrying out one of the biggest purges in Hitlerite Germany's blood-stained history, seeking to hold down an internal upheaval which British Prime Minister churchill called a revolution.

While German army morale appeared badly shaken, there was no concrete evidence yet of any disaffection in the front lines. The Nazis clearly still were in firm control both of the army and of Germany itself.

Reports from France pictured Adolf Hitler's purge of rebellious army officers as having spread to the fighting fronts in Germany, France and possibly Italy. These reports said eight eastern front commanders were arrested or ousted, and that Gestapo agents had arrested and possibly executed German divisional leaders in France and seized Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, the German army commander in Italy.

One report said Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz of the Bordeaux sector in France had ordered his troops Monday to prepare for emergencies, but that he later cancelled the order on learning the attempt on Hitler's life had failed. Blaskowitz since has been absent from his headquarters, it was added.

Churchill Visits France

Churchill, now back in Britain after a three-day tour of the Normandy front, gave the first official Allied word on the crisis in Germany. While visiting an RAF flying field in France yesterday, Churchill declared there were "grave signs of weakness" in Germany. He predicted the war "might come to an end earlier than we have a right to say."

Of the attempt on Hitler's life, Churchill said with a grin:

"They missed the old bounder (rough approximation)—but there's time yet."

Berlin was silent on the counter measures taken against the German officers whom Hitler said had

L. B. M'KELVEY, 65, YOUNGSTOWN, DIES FOLLOWING STROKE

YOUNGSTOWN, July 24.—Lucius B. McKelvey, 65, president of the G. M. McKelvey department store here and widely known in business and horse racing circles, died in a hospital this morning from a stroke.

McKelvey had been ill for several months and failed to rally. During the last few weeks, however, it was thought he was improving.

Mahoning chapter of American Red Cross had been making efforts within the last week to have his son brought home for a brief furlough, hoping it would aid his father.

McKelvey had been president of the G. M. McKelvey Co. since 1917. He was the only son of the late George M. McKelvey, founder of the company.

Born in Hubbard, Oct. 5, 1879, he came to Youngstown at an early age and lived here most of his life. He attended local school and later studied mining engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston.

He was engaged in mining in Idaho for several years but returned to this city in 1903 because of his failing health, to help his father manage his business affairs, especially those of the G. M. McKelvey Co. His father died two years later.

Mr. McKelvey leaves his wife, the former Blanche McConnell of Salem, and the following children. Dr. George M. McKelvey of this city, First Sergt. William B. McKelvey, now in Italy, Mrs. Walter Deming of Salem, Mrs. William Renner of Youngstown, seven grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Charles F. Owsley, Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Frank Harris, all of Youngstown. Another sister, the Marchioness de Castellene, died in Paris, France, in 1935.

3,000 NEW AIRPORTS IN U. S. PLANNED

WASHINGTON, July 24—A billion dollar program for building 3,000 new airports fwll be recommended soon by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for consideration by Congress.

William A. M. Burden, assistant secretary of commerce, announcing the program in a broadcast address, said the CAA will suggest improvements for 1,625 of the 3,086 airports now existing in the country. All but 100 of the 3,000 new airports, under the agency's plans would be small fields largely intended for private flying.

WASHINGTON, July 24—Plans for America's airports of the future—including such projects as "air parks" located adjacent to shopping and business districts—were outlined today at a National Aeronautic association meeting.

Men Under 26 Can Fill Military Needs, House Group Claims

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Most Selective Service needs likely can be filled from the manpower pool under 26 years, the house military affairs committee believes.

The committee reported it expects continuation of present draft induction and deferment policies. In a summary prepared for the group by Col. Francis V. Keesling, Jr., the national military manpower pool of registrants, aged 18 through 37, was placed at 22,212,000 as of July 1. About 10,251,000 of these were members or former members of the armed forces.

"Since the armed forces have already reached their authorized strength," Keesling said, "calls upon Selective Service are for maintaining this net strength. Contingent upon the progress of the war, there is reasonable expectancy that forthcoming calls can be met in a large part from registrants under 26, with a smaller number above this age."

Navy Secretary Forrestal meanwhile estimated that an additional 194,000 enlisted men will be needed by the Navy before Dec. 31 and another 189,000 may be required by next June 30. Most of the men will be obtained through Selective Service.

The planned increase would give the Navy A total strength of 3,389,000 men.

ALLIES GAIN, THEN RETREAT

Invasion Forces Reach Troarn, Fall Back After Counter-Attack

(By Associated Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 24—The Allies were massing their forces today for new drives to break out of the Normandy beachhead and only two engagements were reported all along the 100-mile front.

Eight miles east of Caen British Tommies pushed into the western edge of Troarn, ran into stiff resistance and fell back to the railway station just west of this gateway to the great port of Le Havre.

The salient which Lt. Gen Omar N. Bradley's forces drove across the Little Seves river toward the German stronghold of Periers Saturday was shoved back to the north bank by a German counter-attack yesterday, and the village of Seves was lost. Supreme headquarters announced, however, that American defensive positions were intact.

Before the German counter-attack the Americans had pushed to within two miles of Periers.

South and slightly west of Caen, British troops in sharp local engagements took important ground west of the newly-retrieved town of Maltot and captured a woods 500 yards south of Etavaux.

The Germans resisted stiffly and launched a counter-attack with tanks. At least report fighting was continuing in the area.

MOTOR-BIKE RIDER SERIOUSLY INJURED

Charles B. Faulk, 17, of Rogers, is in serious condition in Salem City hospital today as a result of a truck-motor bicycle collision at the intersection of Routes 7 and 154 in Rogers at about 4:50 p. m Sunday.

Faulk, who was riding a homemade motor bicycle, was injured when his bike collided with a truck, driven by Ralph Stover, R. D. 1, Attica, which was going south on Route 7. Faulk came out of the intersection on Route 154 and was struck by the front of the larger vehicle, state patrolmen said.

The youth suffered deep cut of the forehead, severe lacerations of the back, a broken left leg and a possible fracture of the skull.

State patrolmen said the bicycle was demolished and the front of the truck badly smashed by the impact.

U.S. Marines Invade Tinian; Guam Harbor, Field Isolated

(By Associated Press)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 24.—The day-old invasion of Tinian island, moving smoothly from firm baehheads, rushed American conquest of the strategic Marianas today while other Yank forces isolated key objectives on Guam, 130 miles southward.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique last night said landings, begun at dawn Sunday by assault units of the second and fourth Marines, were being "continued against light opposition" on Tinian, three miles south of conquered Saipan. The invasion was made under protection of carrier and land-based planes, warship guns and land-based artillery.

American forces on Guam suffered 1,958 casualties in three days' fighting. They have isolated the island's best airdrome and finest harbor in closing their grip on Port Apra.

The swiftly moving Pacific war spread to Philippine waters with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement that his bombers sank a 100-foot Japanese vessel Saturday 70 miles off Mindanao. He disclosed this area had been under patrol for some time, and made the first mention of the Philippines in a communique since Corregidor's fall May 6, 1942.

Third Marianas Invasion

The Tinian assault, third invasion in the Marianas, was launched four days after the Guam landings. The Tinian invaders were protected by planes based on Isley field on Saipan, only four miles from the northern tip of Tinian.

The majority of defense installations around Tinian's beachheads had been neutralized by bombing and artillery fire across the two and one-half mile channel separating

Plan Consolidation Of Ballots Wherever Possible For Nov. 7

State, municipal, village and school district questions on issues will be printed on consolidated ballots wherever possible, in an economy move and also to expedite tabulation at the Nov. 7 presidential, state, district and county election in Columbiana county, election officials said today.

Six municipal, village and school district proposals already have been granted ballot places, while at least two more measures are expected to be certified.

The newly-created united local school district, a merger of Butler, Hanover and Kensington special districts, certified over the weekend a five-year, three-mill current expense tax levy.

Other levy proposals filed include East Liverpool city's five-year, three-fourths mill tax for hospital maintenance, East Liverpool school district's two-year, two-mill current expense tax, alem city's two-year, one-half mill operating expense levy, Washingtonville village's two-year, two-mill current expense tax and New Waterford village school district's five-year, four-mill operating expense levy. Knox and Unity rural school districts also will submit current expense levies.

Election officials urge all subdivisions to sour legislative action to permit printing of questions or issues ballots in time for mailing on August 9 to men and women in the armed forces and auxiliary services.

Robot Bombs Sent From Belgium Bases

LONDON, July 24—As the robot attacks on Berlin continued for the 40th day, military experts expressed belief the Germans were using a number of new flying bomb bases, including some in Belgium.

London, as well as areas in the southern counties, suffered casualties and damage during the night, when the Nazis sent a fairly large number of the flying bombs hurtling across the channel.

It was disclosed that more than 100 000 mothers and babies and 82,000 school children have been evacuated from London under government auspices.

300 Attend Outing of Furnace Company

Approximately 300 people enjoyed the annual Electric Furnace Co. picnic at Dunn Eden Lake park for employes and their families Saturday.

The opening feature of the affair, arranged by Ralph Zimmerman, was a baseball game between the office and shop employes. The shop aggregation won 18-14 in hard hitting and hotly contested game.

Prizes ranging from $1 in War stamps to a $25 War bond won by Edward Schweinberg were awarded in the contests and games.

Among the athletic contest winners were Dave Reichert and Fritz Horning, who won the shoe race for boys under 10 years of age and B. Johnson and Beverly Hayman in the girls blindfolded treasure hunt. Don Costanzo and Richard Horning won the apple bobbing contest and the champion doughnut eaters were Carroll Wind and B. Johnson.

C. Eakin and Beverly Mayhew comprised the winning egg-throwing team and a 60-yard race for girls was won by Margaret Stewart. Ruth Barber was second. The men's chicken chase was won by Melvin Heston and the women's class by Ethel Filler. The egg and candle race, given for married couples, was won by Mr. and Mrs. A. Seachrist with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moffett second.

A contest among the office workers was won by Ada Hanna with Ethel Filler second. At guessing, Mrs. A. L. Schaefer was best and Howard Heston, second. An egg pushing contest was won by Doris and Beverly Hayman in the girl's race and Richard Horning and Robert Brown in the boy's.

Soviet Forces Only 70 Miles From Warsaw

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, July 24—The German army fled in disorder through central Poland today as the Russians advanced within 70 miles of Warsaw and fought through the streets of Lublin only 25 miles from the Wisla (Vistula) river line Hitler must hold to stave off a direct assault on the Reich.

(The German radio asserted today that Russian troops had plunged within 50 miles of Warsaw with Nazi troops abandoning Siedlce and Jaroslaw.)

(The Transocean agency said Red troops had "reached the line of Siedlce and Jaroslaw.")

(Siedlce is 50 miles due east of the Polish capital. It lies 365 airline miles from Berlin, by far the closest Allied approach to that bomb ridden capital of Nazidom.)

(The Nazi communique said Lwow (pop: 317,000 and third Polish city) and Lublin (119,000 and tenth Polish city) had become battlegrounds.)

(The enemy-reported advance to Siedlce marked a 26-mile advance since midnight.)

In Stalin's juggernaut offensive entering its second month with increasing momentum, the Red army has captured 23 German generals and knocked out possibly 50 of the Germans' 250 divisions in the east (perhaps 500,000 or more men).

The battle of Poland, already assuming catastrophic consequences for Hitler's eastern front, was shaping into a struggle in the near future for Prussia itself.

The Red army moved deeply into the Baltic republics and in the south struck close to the Carpathian defenses of Hungary and Czechoslovakia, but it was over the wide, rolling Polish plains that Stalin's war of movement hourly gained new decisions.

Brest Litovsk By-Passed

Brest Litovsk was by-passed in a pocket 40 miles deep. Soviet troops mounted a frontal attack which battered into that Bug river city's suburbs.

Seventy miles to the south, despairing and trapped Germans were being driven street by street from Lublin.

Marshal Rokossovsky's vanguard of cavalry and tanks was within 25 miles of the Upper Wisla (Vistula) river on a steadily widening front. Red army engineers rushed bridging materials and prepared to span this river line as swiftly as the Bug was crossed last week. Once the Wisla (Vistula) defense zone is turned, the way would be opened to outflank Warsaw from the south.

Allied military observers marvelled at the Soviet genius in maintaining supply services for an army that has raced 320 miles in 31 days.

Field dispatches gave no indication that the Nazi high command had been able to halt, or even slow down, the rapid progress of the Russians, who announced advances from west of liberated Pskov, at the Estonian border, to Galacia in the south.Fall of Pskov was announced by Premier Stalin yesterday.

The greatest gain toward Warsaw was southeast of the city, where the Red army captured Parczew, 87 miles from the Polish capital. This was expected to be the very core of the Nazi defense before the Wisla and Warsaw.

KIEL BLASTED BY RAF PLANES

U. S. Bombers Rip German Airdromes, Visit Rumanian Capital

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, July 24—A maximum of 500 U. S. heavy bombers attacked German airdromes, harbors and other objectives today in southern France, northern Italy and Yugoslavia.

A great fleet of British bombers cast 2,300 tons of explosives on the great naval base of Kiel before dawn and Allied planes from Italy bombed the Rumania capital of Bucharest.

British heavy bombers attacked flying bomb installations in northern France for the third time in about a day's span. This was the only daylight operation reported from England up to late afternoon. Weather worsened over Normandy with only a few small breaks in the virtually complete overcast.

Airdromes were hit in the south of France.

The leading Italian port of Genoa 85 miles up the west coast from the battlefront at Pisa, was struck. Four German troop concentrations in southern Yugoslavia were targets across the Adriatic from Italy.

Other objectives included tank repair shops and a ball bearing factory. A few enemy interceptors were encountered.

Five seperate bomber forces were sent out from Britain last night by the RAF, the largest raining destruction on Kiel at the rate of 150 tons of bombs per minute. Other heavyweights bombed two large oil storage depots at Donges, near St. Nazaire, in an effort to reduce further the enemy's dwindling fuel supplies, and another force hit German flying bomb sites in northern France.

At the same time squadrons of RAF Mosquitos attacked Berlin with 4-000-pound blockbusters for the 13th time since D-day and formations of these planes also provided overnight support for Allied ground forces in Normandy by pounding enemy troop movements in the Rouen and Amiens districts

THIRD HITLER AIDE IN EXPLOSION DIES

LONDON, July 24—Berlin announced today that Col. Gen. Guenther Korten, chief of the German air force general staff, had died of injuries suffered in last Thursday's explosion at Hitler's headquarters.

A broadcast said Maj. Gen. Heinz Brandt, first officer in the operative section of the army general staff, also had succumbed. This brought the announced death toll to three, Berlin having announced earlier the death of "the Fuehrer's collaborator," and Double, whose name was carried last week by Berlin as "Berger," but was announced today as Heinrich Bergner.

EXPAND PRISONER HOUSING IN STATE

CAMP PERRY, July 24—Three side camps to accommodate approximately 1,500 German prisoners of war to relieve northwestern Ohio's critical agricultural labor situation will be established at Bowling Green, Celina and Defiance, Col. Harold D. Woolley, Camp Perry commanding officer, announced today.

Two of the camps possibly will be in operation by Aug. 1, he said. Tents will be used at sites of former 4-H club camps at Celina and Bowling Green, and unoccupied buildings at a former CCC camp will be utilized at Defiance.

Plans call for the assignment of 300 prisoners at Celina, 600 at Bowling Green and 600 at Defiance. Under control of Camp Perry, the camps will be in charge of American officers and enlisted personnel.

JAPAN'S EXPENDABLES

The landing of United States troops on Guam brings the Pacific war back to one of its tragic starting points. Today, it is the Japanese defenders of Guam, not a handful of U. S. marines, who are expendable. Today, instead of the Japanese navy holding the whip hand in the western Pacific, it is the United States navy which moves as it pleases.

Invasion of Guam, if it should come to the ears of Americans held prisoners of Japan, will be notice that the rescue which never came in their hopeless battle at the war's beginning is coming now. Guam is only one of many points now secure in American hands—and all the rest belonged to Japan. Eventually, the Philippines will be recovered—also at great cost—but what never was plain before is plain now. In the future, the security being bought at such great cost must never be neglected again.

Guam's neglect was typical of the nation's blindness, typical of its attitude of appeasement, typical of the petty jealousies and unpardonable stupidities which gave Japan its chance to exact a blood ransom from the United States for the security we left unguarded.

THEY CAN'T SHOOT A NATION

The probability that Hitler's loyalists can deal with military revolt does not secure them from civilian collapse. This is the momentous possibility brought into focus by the reported attempt to assassinate Hitler and the subsequent purge of unfriendly officers.

Whatever may be the real truth of the matter—and we may be sure that the German radio won't intentionally disclose it—the impact on civilians of unrest and loss of confidence in the army will be tremendous. Many observers agree that there is slight prospect of civilian collapse as long as the army remains united and confident. It is the people's source of strength and inspiration. Until it begins to crumble, civilians will survive to match its morale, just as civilians do in all countries.

In World war I, military mutiny pulled the keystone out of the German war arch. Until mutiny came to a head at Kiel and thereafter dispersed iself like an infection into inland cities, Germany's civilian population continued to believe in victory. But when the evidence of military collapse no longer could be concealed, civilians took their cue promptly.

Hitler planned to make a recurrence of collapse impossible in this war; it is one of the tenets he laid down for victory in "Mein Kampf." He can purge individuals. He can purge even sizeable groups. But the Nazis cannot purge a nation. If defeatism has begun to spread inside Geremany, no power on earth can stop it.

CHANGED: A HORSE IN MIDSTREAM

The Democratic party's frantic decision to change vice presidential horses in midstream may give political historians some giddy moments.

Nomination of Sen. Truman to run with Mr. Roosevelt ostensibly was a move to strengthen the ticket. But by hindsight, it may look as if the Democratic elements which decided to get Mr. Wallace out of the party cut off their noses to spite their faces.

They have conducted burial services for "Doctor New Deal" with a political steamroller, but they left a lot of damage in their wake. A steamroller is never a tidy instrument.

The shrewd politics behind the affair may turn out to have been a shade too shrewd. Sen. Truman, aside from his reputation as an able chairman of an important congressional committee, is a political cipher. He will rally few votes in his own right and may alienate a lot more than Mr. Wallace would have alienated.

He was given the nomination not because he was strong, but because Mr. Wallace as a rallying point for the forces which have given the Democratic party its political identity—and its intra-party headaches—since 1932 had become controversial. Factions with the party demanded appeasement. With due respect to Sen. Truman, he is the appeasement.

He will be presented to voters in the election as proof that the Roosevelt New Deal is now resting in peace. This will amount to a confession by party chieftains that the national trend is toward the traditional moderation of the Republican party.

It begins to look as if the tables were being turned and the Democrats would offer the country a cut-rate version of Republicanism, just as the Republicans tried to win friends and influence voters in 1936 and 1940 with a cut-rate version of New Dealism. Political straddling is usually fatal, but the final verdict on the point will have to wait till November.

Mr. Wallace had been serving as the only active spokesman for the New Deal. Like him or not, he was no straddler. So the straddlers got rid of him. His ghost may shriek at them from the ballot boxes next November.

AND THE RAIN TOO?

It is easy to understand why a political party tends to claim too much when it is doing its pointing-with-pride, but the Democratic platform is stuffed with palpable nonsense when it claims these things:

That the Democratic party provided employment before the war. Jobs are provided either by private enterprise, or by government with the people's money. The Democratic party never provided a single job, except a handful in its own organization.

That the Democratic party built the army, navy, air force and merchant marine. These were built by the United States, and to say otherwise is to arrogate a dishonest credit, to say nothing of the insult to millions of citizens who worked as patriots, not as members of a party organization.

That the Democratic party won allies for the United States. The allies were won by the position, power and prestige of the nation, not by any political organization within the nation.

That the Democratic party worked out the grand strategy of the war and turned the tide of battle. The grand strategy was worked out by men, including professional militarists who are above partisanship—and by allies who must activel yresent the absurd insinuation that they had anything to do with Democratic fortunes within this country.

That the Democratic party held the line against wartime inflation. To whatever extent the line has been held, it is to the credit of every citizen who has in any way recognized the obligation to prevent the chaos of a disordered national economy in wartime.

That the Democratic party has insured equitable distribution of food and other essentials. To the millions who have worked as patriotic citizens to do this job—as buyers, handlers, members of ration boards, publicists and, collectively, as patriots dealing with a wartime emergency—this is a claim so shockingly arrogant that its inclusion in the party platform simply cannot be excused as an excess of enthusiasm.

The platform makers did not claim that the party also made it rain, but that must have been an oversight. As it is, they have claimed so much that the party's valid claims are largely discredited by the most incredible display of guff ever foisted by cynical politicians on a supposedly naive electorate.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, July 25

A LIVELY and interesting day is read from a conflicting state of dominant planets, in which shrewd, sagacious and above board dealings may be needful to set aside baneful, intriguing and undercover situations, difficult to fathom. Credit, standing, reputation and security seem to be in the balance, with direct and aggressive action as the main remedy. With frustration and sinister attack vanquished there is hope of definite success and happiness, affecting the personal as well as business life. Friendship and closer ties may prove of significance.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have the disposal of their present as well as future happiness and security, to be rescued from sinister and undercover circumstances, largely by a direct and decisive blow at undermining dangers. Beware subtle and intriguing alliances, safeguard finances, reputation, social standing by open and above board policies and tactics. Stick to facts and adhere to the demands of duty, obligation and responsibility, and all should be well, bringing personal happiness as well as increased prestige and popularity.

A child born on this day although subject to subtlety and craft, with temptations and snares, may adhere to the code, with integrity and honor, thereby winning the approbation of its superiors and influential friends, social and business.

The supreme phase of the war into which we have entered once again entails our France the greatest sacrifices of all, without her always meeting with full and ocmplete understanding of others.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

DON'T NEED ROOSEVELT

Editor, The News:

The other night when I was listening to the speeches at the Democratic convention, I heard Gov. Kerr of Alabama lambasting the Republicans right and left, and yes, the governor even had to blast the dead in their grave (I reckon he figured that made it more impressive) and praised the immortal Woodrow Wilson for his great work. The other dead he called on were two ex-Republican presidents.

If the Wilson is immortal, so is the gag on which he won his second term. Remember, he kept us out of war. Yes that was it, only six months later we were in war.

The governor shouted how the men after the war were chased out of Washington and how they certainly would never forget it. I wonder if they will ever forget who vetoed their bonus bill? Guess not.

He shouted how under the leadership of "our great President F. D Roosevelt" this country is enjoying prosperity never known before, but forgot to mention the price we are paying.

As far as I can see each and every pay check is soaked with the blood of some American boy or girl and at the cost of tens of thousand of lives, not to mentoin the burden of unborn generations for years to come who will pay with sweat and money the billions of dollars in debt.

I wonder whether there are in this country any parents, who would not rather make less money, and see their sons and daughters back home, sound in body and mind instead? I reckon very few if any.

This present prosperity is nothing but blood money. Had we been in the same condition without the war then I would say yes, this is prosperity, but we all know that without this war there would still be plenty of W. P. A.

Yes, Wilson as elected because he kept us out of war until he was elected. Now we are asked to keep the Roosevelt to get us out of this one. Recently our Navy secretary died. No doubt the Knox knew his business, but did the Navy go to pot because he died? Not much, and we got along as good as before. So we will without the Roosevelt.

In my opinion it would be a good idea, if the Roosevelt happens to be re-elected, to deed him the White House. That way at least we need not pay the up keep.

Child's Growth Follows Standard Pattern

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE NORMAL unfolding, growth and development of the child's body, from birth to adolescence follows an average standard pattern. The plans, the specifications of this pattern are remarkably rigid for the normal average individual.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It may seem to vary widely from person to person. There are those who are destined to be short people and those who are destined to be tall, fat, medium and lean. But granted that you can't lay down any mathematical rules for those types, all of them maintain quite exact body proportoins and rate of growth.

One fellow may be four feet, eight and another six feet two, but in both of them if the arms are stretched out, and measurements made from finger tip to finger top it will be exactly the same as the height, and the measurements of the length of the legs, from heel to the symphysis, the bone in the center of the body in front, is the same as from symphysis to the top of the head. In other words, no matter what the size of the person the proportions are kept the same. And, tall or short, the rate of growth of bone, the age at which the bones are laid down is the same.

Controlled by Ductless Glands

This phenomenon of basic growth is controlled largely by two of the ductless glands—the thyroid and pituitary. Their influence is exerted on the bones and can be seen and adjudged by the Xray.

Parents who know a little smattering of this by having read some of the popular accounts of the ductless glands in current literature are always fussing and wondering whether to give one or the other of their children some gland extracts to make it grow or to stop it growing, or to make it thin or fat, as the case may be.

There is just a grain or two of reason in these ideas, enough to make them worth consideration in some cases, but such treatment should be given or withheld in accordance with a full knowledge of the subject and common sense.

In the first place, slight deviations from the rigid pattern which I have laid down are not of consequence and should not be interfered with by artificial feeding of gland extracts. One boy may shoot up and seem to be all legs. Undoubtedly there is for a time in his body an over-secretion of the pituitary, but before long Nature gets control and slows the pituitary down and he winds up a normal, average pattern. Or this other one is definitely short and doesn't grow rapidly in the growth time period of adolescence. Very likely the thyroid has slowed up. But then old Mother Nature wakes up and gives the thyroid a jog and the little fellow suddenly within a year catches up with all his companions of the same age. These experiences are so common that you can see examples of them around you every day.

Test With X-ray

Just when, or at what point, these allowable divergences go over into the definitely pathologic where treatment by gland extracts is indicated os a matter of judgment. One test if any parent is puzzled is to take an Xray of the wrist and see the bone age as shown by ossification of the carpal bones. These little bones begin to ossify at very definite dates on the normal, average and the real age of the child (not the time age) is shown here best.

If the bone age is behind the time age and if the child is stunted in growth the use of thyroid extract does wonders.

Lessened thyroid secretion takes many different forms in childhood and does not show up as the classical cretinoid individual in any but a few instances. If a child seems backward mentally, or gains weight at the expense of height anywhere from the ages of three to eight, it is good sense to determine its bony development by the Xray and if this indicates the necessity, to exhibit thyroid extract. It should be spotted i nchildhood because later is too late.

Periodic Car Inspections Recommended by Hine

An average of 4600 cars are being scrapped every day, according to H. I. Hine, local Ford dealer. These cars are irreplacable and are a vital part of America's war transportation system, Hine points out. According to engineers many more automobile parts are ruined by neglect than by actual wear.

If it were possible for every car owner to maintain proper adjustment, lubrication and cleanliness of metal friction points there would be no need to worry about cars lasting through the war.

Today the only safe way to help your car stay on the highway for the duration is to adopt a system of periodic, preventive service, and monthly checkups that inspect your car thoroughly and keep it continually at peak operating efficiency.

Wiggers Service Stations Lubrication Specialists

Automobiles need regular lubrication and just as important is the correct grade or kind of lubricant. To be certain your car will not wear out thousands of miles before it should you must either know how and have just the right lubricant for every part and as well the pressure equipment to apply it or have some experienced mechanic do the work.

To be certain the work is done right see Pete Wiggers who has specialized in lubrication for many years and operates two service stations, one just off State st., on N. Ellsworth and the other just south.

Auto Wheels Realigned At Matt Klein Garage

There are a number of things which can happen to an automobile to take the joy out of driving.

Among these is uncertain steering caused by shimmying, vibration and bouncing. And the primary cause, usually, is unbalanced wheels.

Then, too, a tire out of balance wears much faster.

There is a way to get rid of this. Matt Klein's garage, at 813 Newgarden st., has it.

The device is the Bear dynamic wheel balancer. On this balancer each wheel is rotated at high speed and the neon eye device detects every spot on the wheel which may be out of balance.

If you're having steering trouble, drop in and see Matt. If it can be fixed, he'll tell you how to do it.

Correct Glasses Help Vision and Eyestrain

Knowing your eyes are not being strained and just thinking so are two different things. Just thinking they are all right is often the cause of much trouble in later life.

Today properly qualified professional opticians can soon make tests that determine for certain if eye strain is taking place and they can soon provide the necessary aid to correct vision under your particular working conditions.

Dr. N. R. Pettay, with offices at the Art Jewelry store, has helped hundreds of local as well as many other people to more fully enjoy their daily tasks and in many cases made it possible for them to do better work that has resulted in increased pay.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"Cart, darling. Please—"

"You called me darling! Pat dear, how could you play around with me all these months, flaunting that author Smith in my face—"

"Cart," cut in Pat. "I want to talk to you..... first."

"I'm sick of talk! Pat, I want you so much—" He kissed the tip of her nose.

"I want to talk to you about Jim, Cart!" stressed Pat, and she felt him go cold. He let her go and walked to the windows that overlooked the Courthouse plaza to stare at the sky.

"What about Jim?" he asked in a flat voice.

"Cart! Look at me!" Pat begged. He turned around. "I can't do it."

"Can't? you are!"

"Can't withdraw from the case. That's why you came here today, isn't it—to ask me?"

"Yes," she said, very low. "More than that. I wanted you to resign the Prosecutor's office and come over to Jim's defense. Like Judge Eli Martin."

Cart was silent for so long that Pat had to look up at him. He was staring at her with seeming bitterness.

But when he spoke, he was gentle. "You can't be serious. The Judge is your father's closest friend. And he wouldn't have been able to sit on this case, anyway. But I was elected to this office only a short time ago. I took an oath that means something to me."

The youthful prosecutor paused, then declared: "If Jim's innocent, he'll go free. If he's guilty—well, you wouldn't want him to go free if he's guilty, would you?"

"He's not guilty!" Pat emphasized.

"That's something the jury will have to decide. Chief Dakin and I have had to collect the facts, Pat. We've had to. Our personal feelings can't interfere. We both feel awful about this....."

Pat was near tears now. "I know the trial can't be stopped, but I wanted you on our side, I wanted you to help, not hurt!"

Cart ground his teeth.

Horrified, she heard her own voice break and found herself sobbing. "The whole town's against us. They stoned Jim. They're slinging mud at us. Wrightsville, Cart! A Wright founded this town."

She hid her face, giving up the emotional battle.

"Pat," said Cart miserably, "I can't. I just can't. If I don't do this job—if I resign or step out—someone else will prosecute. Someone who might be a lot less feir to Jim. If I handle the case, Pat, you can be sure Jim will get a square deal—"

She ran out.

From the beginning of the proceedings against James Haight there was an undertone that was chilling. Chief of Police Dakin expressed himself privately as "mighty relieved" that his prisoner didn't have to be carted through the streets of Wrightsville to reach the place of his inquisition, since the County Jail and the County Courthouse were in the same building.

Dakin had to assign two county detectives to escort the Wright family to and from the Courthouse. Seven unsighned, threatening letters were delivered in one day alone. John F. Wright turned them over to Dakin's office.....

Hermy and John F. began to look beaten. In court, the family sat together, in a sort of phalanx, with stiff necks and pale faces. Occasionally Hermy smiled rather pointedly in the direction of Jim Haight, and then turned to glare at the jammed courtroom.

There had been a great deal of mumbling about the impropriety of Carter Bradford's prosecuting the case. True, unlike Judge Eli Martin, Bradford had arrived at the fatal New Year's Eve party after the poisoning of Nora and Rosemary. But it was pointed out that the young prosecutor had long been friendly with the Wright family, especially one member of it; and such critics questioned the ability of Bradford to prosecute this case to the limit.

Interviewed on this point before the opening of the trial, Bradford snapped: "This isn't a big city. We have a close-knit community here, where everybody knows everybody else. My conduct during the trial will answer all libelous insinuations. Jim Haight will get a trial based solely upon the evidence."

Judge Lysander Newbod was an elderly bachelor, greatly respected as a jurist and trout fisherman. Everybody said that "Al" Newbold is just about the best judge this case could have." Some even thought he was too good. But they were the ones who were muttering.

Reporter Roberta Roberts baptized these grumblers "the Jim-haighters."

For students of the particular, the complete court record of People vs. James Haight is on file in Wright County. For that matter, the newspapers were almost as exhaustive as the court stenographer's notes. The difficulty with detailed records, however is that you cannot see the tree for the leaves.

So let us stand off and make the leaves blus and blend into larger shapes. Let us look at contours, not textures.

In his opening address to the jury, Prosecutor Carter Bradford said that the jury must bear in mind one all-important point: that while Rosemary Haight, the defendant's sister, was murdered by poison, her death was not the true object of defendant's crime. The true object was to take the life of defendant's young wife, Nora Wright Haight—an object so nearly accomplished that the wife was confined to her bed for six weeks after the fateful New Year's Eve party, a victim of arsenic poisoning.

And yes, the State freely admits that its case against James Haight is circumstantial; but murder convictions on circumstantial evidence are the rule, not the exception. The only direct evidence possible in a murder case is an eyewitnesse's testimony as to having seen the murder at the moment of its commission.....

Obviously, continued Brdford, such "accidents" of persons witnessing the actual deed must be few, since murderers understandability try to avoid committing their murders before an audience.....

But the jury need not flounder in doubts about this case; here the circumstantial evidence is so clear that the jury must find James Haight guilty of the crime as charged beyond any reasonable doubt.

"The People will prove," said Bradford in a low, firm tone, "that James Haight planned the murder of his wife a minimum of five weeks before he tried to accomplish it; that it was a cunning plan, depending upon a series of poisonings of increasing severity to establish the wife as subject to attacks of 'illness,' and supposed to culminate in a climactic poisoning as a result of which the wife was to die.

"The People will prove," Bradford went on, "that these preliminary poisonings did take place on the very dates indicated by the schedule James Haight had prepared with his own hand; that the attempted murder of Nora Haight and the accidental murder of Rosemary Haight did take place on the very date indicated by that same schedule.

"The People will prove that on the night under examination, James Haight, and James Haight alone, mixed the batch of cocktails among whose number was the poisoned cocktail; that James Haight, and James Haight alone, handed the tray of cocktails around to the various members of the party; that James Haight, and James Haight alon, handed his wife the poisoned cocktail from the tray, and even urged her to drink it; that she did drink of that cocktail, and soon fell violently ill of arsenic poisoning, her life being spared only because she gave the rest of the poisoned cocktail to her sister-in-law after having merely sipped.....a circumstance James Haight couldn't have foreseen.

"The People will prove," asserted Badford, "that James Haight was in desperate need of money, that he demanded large sums of money of his wife while under the influence of liquor, and sensibly, she refused; that James Haight was losing large sums of money gambling; that he was taking other illicit means of procuring money; that upon Nora Haight's death her estate, a large one as the result of an inheritance, would legally fall to the defendant who is her husband and heir-at-law.

"The People," concluded Bradford, in a tone so low he could scarcely be heard, "being convinced beyond reasonable doubt that James Haight did so plan and attempt the life of one person in attempting which he succeeded in taking the life of another, an innocent victim—the People demand that James Haight pay with his own life for the life taken."

And Carter Bradford sat down to applause which caused the first of Judge Newbold's numerous subsequent warnings to the spectators.

Flashes Of Life

YOUNGSTOWN—The Ball family, which raises Hereford cattle, put a sign at the entrance to their farm which reads: "Ball Hereford Farm."

Mrs. Ball said she was surprised recently by a man who drove up to the door and said: "I'd like to speak to Mrs. Hereford."

TOLEDO—A thief who stole a tire from Woodrow Wagner's automobile, replaced it with a not-quite-so-good, but usable, tire, police reported.

PORTSMOUTH — Fred Kitchen and his wife, Viola, climbed into a taxicab driven by Lowell Journey for the Safly Cab company.

The stork rode along, too, and suddenly lusty cries of a baby pealed out from the back seat.

The surprised Journey exclaimed late: "That couple had no baby when I answered the call!"

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE—Two aged natives were discussing the weather here recently.

Said one: "I heard that feller on the radio at noon today say there would be thundershowers, but he didn't say a blamed word about any rain."

TOLEDO—One of Toledo's servicemen sent his mother a parrot from "somewhere in the world." When he arrived home, he asked her how he liked it.

"Very much," she said, "it was so nice and plump. But Joe, it was awful tough!"

MANSFIELD — Two toy racing automobile and tires have been stolen for the third time from Casino park. Twice police recovered the wheels from boys who took them to make small automobiles.

This time a small gasoline motor also is missing, an officers said the boys apparently plan to put a power unit in the automobile they're building.

THE Fifth War Bond Drive is over—but the Invasion is not!

Actually, the war right now is at its most critical stage—which is just why our men need your support as never before, why they need you to help pay for the mass of materials of all kinds that will bring crushing defeat to our enemies that much sooner!

Of course, you have just done your part in the Fifth War Loan Drive—but they have done theirs in many a grim, bloody battle and they aren't resting on what they've done before! They are carrying the fight to the enemy wherever they can reach him, every day—and your dollars are needed every day, too!

Surely you won't stop buying—won't let up now—when the chips are down!

5 MORE REASONS for Keeping Up Your Bond Buying

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Guernsey Judging School Is Planned

The northeastern Ohio Guernsey herd type classification demonstration and judging school will be held at the Mahoning county fairgrounds at Canfield Saturday, July 29, starting at 10 a. m., according to Lloyd Farmer of Columbiana, general chairman. M. G. Seath, manager of Fairlawn Farms, Adelphia, N. J., will act as official judge.

Cattle for the herd type demonstration and judging classes were selected recently from several herds located in Columbiana and Mahoning counties by Earl N. Shultz, national Guernsey fieldman, N. H., and H. E. Denlinger of Wooster, field secretary of the Ohio Guernsey Breeders' ass'n. Cattle for the various judging activities have been chosen from the following herds:

John Cope, Roy Cope, and A. E. Wisler, Dwight Graham, all of Leetonia; Wade Wehr, North Lima; and Elmer Riehl, Canfield, W. W. Baughman, New Waterford, Paul Warrington, Salem, and Harry Sprinkle, New Springfield.

The Columbiana - Mahoning Guernsey Breeders' ass'n., is sponsoring this school.

County agents, 4-H club members, Vo-Ag teachers and students, breeders and others interested are invited to attend. The purpose of the meeting is to afford an opportunity for study of improved dairy type in relation to increased milk production.

A picnic dinner will be enjoyed at 12:30 p. m. at the fairgrounds. Prizes will be awarded in the day's judging contest to the three highest scoring individuals in all classes. The adults and juniors will compete in separate groups.

SMOKED OUT OF SAIPAN'S CAVES

ONE OF THE DIFFICULT tasks that faced American forces on Saipan was the job of overcoming the terror of civilians who had been told by Jap propagandists that the Yanks would torture them. They holed up in caves and had to be forced out with smoke bombs. The man with the baby on his back (top) looks with disbelief as he is assured that nothing will happen to him. A woman and her young son (bottom) hastily emerge as smoke fills the interior of their hideout. (International)

Household Hints

Rinse off orange or lemon reamers and egg beaters as soon as used by soaking in cold water for five minutes and then washing in hot soapy water.

The food-canning industry, which in normal years rolls out about 13 billion cans of edibles, actually began in the days of the Napoleonic wars.

If your children don't drink as much milk as they should try adding a bit of canned fruit and its juice and calling it a milk shake.

To keep iron from sticking, run it over beeswax or paraffin fastened in a small square of white cloth or run over salt sprinkled on wrapping paper.

Cover your kitchen shelves with inlaid linoleum. It will make a fine cushiony surface for china and glassware and will wipe clean in a jiffy.

If you are traveling by train and can't achieve that scrubbed look, saturate a washcloth with eau de cologne and give yourself a brisk dry-cleaning.

If you use metal reflectors on study lamps, give them an occasional soap and water cleaning. They will then do a much better job of reflecting.

Since sponges are scarce today, treat any that you have on hand, with special care. Wash in warm soapy water after using and dry in fresh air.

MOTHERS: THE FLETCHER'S CASTORIA
NOW ON SALE
IS SAFEGUARDED THREE WAYS!
Look for the Serial Control Number on each bottle

EVERY BOTTLE of Fletcher's Castoria—now on sale at your druggist's—bears a Serial Control Number.

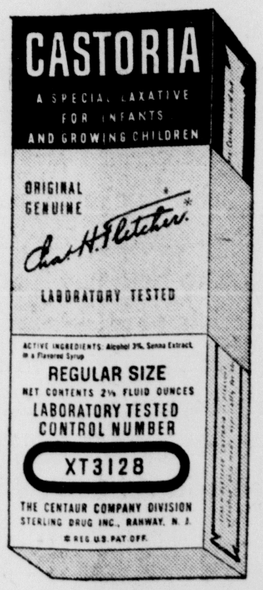

This number is plainly visible through a "window" in the new package. It is your guarantee that Fletcher's Castoria is safeguarded by three different kinds of rigid tests . . . chemical, bacteriological, and biological.

Here's how you can easily identify the new package:

The Green Band... Around each package is a brilliant green band. This band quickly identifies the triple-tested Fletcher's Castoria now on sale.

The Serial Control Number... The Serial Control Number is on the bottle label. You can see it through a "window" in the outside carton.

We think that this visible evidence of quality and reliability... the Serial Control Number on each bottle... will be welcomed by millions of mothers who have long used Fletcher's Castoria as the ideal laxative for children.

And we think that millions of mothers will be glad to know that Fletcher's Castoria—the laxative made especially for children—is now on sale at their druggists'.

For this is the original and genuine Fletcher's Castoria... the laxative that's mild and gentle, yet effective . . . the laxative that's pleasant-tasting, so you don't have to "force" your child to take it.

Ask for Fletcher's Castoria the next time your child needs a laxative.

Note: Until sufficient stocks can be made available, your druggist may not have enough Fletcher's Castoria on hand to meet all demands. If he happens to be out of stock when you ask for Fletcher's Castoria, please be patient. He will have it for you shortly.

China Travels!

Potters Invited To Play Benefit Game In Dover For War Veterans

Taking the road for the first time this year, the Salem China Class A softball aggregation—unbeaten in 18 straight games will journey to Dover to meet a powerful Shenango Steel Co. team under the lights at Dover stadium at 9 p. m. Tuesday.

The contest is being arranged by Dover softball officials as a benefit for Fletcher General hospital, near Cambridge, and all proceeds of the game will go to aid the recreational activities of recuperating veterans there.

The battle looms as a tough one for the unbeaten China crew as Dover's star left hander hasn't lost a game in 14 this season and closely approaches Dale Ritchie's record of 18.

Will Bolster Team

To bolster his aggregation, John Ehrhart, China manager, is taking along other Salem talent from the four Class A squads not booked on Tuesday. Charlie Huffer, Recreation first sacker and league leading hitter, is slated to see action along with teammate Shorty Borton, and Herb Brown, another strong man at the plate.

From Sheens squad, Ehrhart plans to take pitcher Francis Lanney and third sacker Jim Appedisan. Don Beattie, News second baseman, will also make the trip.

The regular China lineup will be active in the game, but a substitution will have to be found by Ehrhart for catcher Bruce Cope. In all probability, John Del Favero, shortstop, will be pulled in for the catching assignment and Razor Eddy will take over the position at short.

Jim Appedisan and Herb Brown will work at third base, Huffer at first along with Fred Reese, and Beattie at second.

Ritchie will do the pitching with Lanney there in case of an emergency. In the outfield will be Borton, Stark, Kenst and Griffiths.

OHIO FOOTBALLERS GIVE SUMMER SHOW

Widdoes Says He Thinks Prospects Look Very Good For 1944

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, July 24. — Carroll Widdoes will tell you today that his 1944 Ohio State football team looks pretty good and that he's satisfied with the product of six weeks' summer training.

The crew, composed generally of freshmen, was split into two teams Saturday and 8,000 fans watched the Scarlets trounce the Whites 32 to 12, in the annual intra-squad game.

"They look pretty good, and I might say that I'm satisfied," Widdoes remarked.

This was not an elaborate statement after watching such performances as that given by Tom Keane of Bellaire, the freshman from whom fine things are expected. He passed from the 16-yard line to Jack Dugger for the Scarlets' first touchdown in the opening period, and a few minutes later he intercepted a pass from Jerry Tuttle of Kent and raced 35 yards to score. Keane is fast and powerful.

Bob Brugge of Parma worked well, too. At the start of the third period, he broke free and galloped 75 yards for the Scarlet's third touchdown. Dick Flanagan of Sidney chalked up the fourth score. He snagged Tuttle's pass on the White 39 and went to the 17. Brugge and Ollie Cline of Fredericktown took it to the six, and Flanagan plunged over from there.

The last score was set up by Keane. He grabbed a White pass on the enemy 16, moved to the nine, and Cline went over on the fourth play.

If it hadn't been for an additional eight minutes permitted so Widdoes could get everyone of his big squad in action, the Whites wouldn't have scored. In the late minutes, Dick Wandtke of Toledo flipped a touchdown pass to John Montejzik of Parma, and shortly afterward Gene Janecko, slippery back from Campbell, dashed 47 yards to score.

There'll be no more action until September, when practice resumes. Ohio State opens a nine-game schedule Sept. 30, playing Missouri here.

Final Week Of Third Round Sees China Sailing High On Top, Other Spots Wide Open

A round-up of the Class A softball league as it goes into the final week of third round play shows the Salem China again sailing along on top of the pile without a loss and all attention now turns to the battle for second and third positions.

The China has two assignments this week, one with the News today and the second with Mullins, now tied for second place, on Thursday evening.

Every game Dale Ritchie, Potter speedball artist and leading hitter, wins boosts his all-time record and makes it that much more untouchable. By defeating the Recreation Friday, Ritchie got over one of his most serious humps and is expected to have an easier time this week.

The second place battle—between the Recs, Mullins and Demings, aggregations — looms as a very interesting one. From early indications, the Recreation squad has the easiest way to plough this week as they face Sheens in a game at 7 p. m. today and Jim's on Friday evening. Both teams have given the Old Timers little trouble earlier in the year and their improved ball club is due to take both games—if all goes as expected.

Demings and Mullins will get together tomorrow to make up their minds which team stays in the second-place struggle. Mullins have by far the toughest row ahead of them this week as they meet the powerful Potters Thursday after their try against Demings Tuesday.

Demings taste Paxsons power Thursday night.

The battle—if it can be called that—for the last few spots on the league books, is raging between Sheens and Jim's, the News and Paxsons. The first two teams have won two and lost three this round while the News and Paxsons are tied with one win in five games.

All of these aggregations meet two tests this week and a tie is possible in several ways.

The News has drawn probably the toughest last week of play in lower brackets, playing the China today and Sheen Friday. Sheens and Jim's have a start on the News but both have hard tests to pass this week.

Paxsons looms as possible fourth place material as they face Jim's and Demings in their two tests, and inasmuch as they are rated as one of the hardest-hitting crews in the loop, may pull into a first division spot.

Conchita Cintron, Spanish-American Bull Fighter, Off For Try In Spain

Venezuelan Ring Star Is Part Yankee and Pretty

BY ALAN STEWART
AP Features

CARACAS, Venezuela — Conchita Cintron, adored by Latin Americans as the Blonde Goddess of Bullfighting, has left these shores for a two-year tour of Portugal and Spain, where she will risk death in the bullrings against the fiercest bulls.

When Conchita stepped aboard the Spanish liner "Cabo de Hornos" on June 19, she entered the most important stage of her spectacular, thrill-packed life, for soon she will face tests of skill greater than heretofore experienced, and she will perform under the cold, impassionate scrutinies of the greatest fight experts.

Vet of 400 Fights

Already a veteran of some 400 fights, this 21-year-old Spanish-American girl will take her choice of bulls with the best "toreros," risking the chance of being gored, or crushed beneath her horse if some mishap should occur. Since she began fighting bulls as a pro in 1939, Conchita has had 18 mishaps, but was gored for the first time in Bogota three months ago, and was unable to fight for some weeks.

Conchita is half Yankee and half Spanish. Her father, Frank Cintron, was born of Spanish parents in Puerto Rico, and at present is with the American embassy in Lima, Peru. Her mother, Lola Verrill, is a native of Hartford, Conn. Her maternal grandfather, Alfius Hyatt Verrill, was a noted football player who married Catherine McCarthy, as Irish as her name.

Part Yank

This mixture or races has produced a pretty, slender, blue-eyed girl whose whole life is bullfighting. Her Spanish heritage has won out over her American antecedents, for just before she left Lima this year she renounced her American citizenship and became a Peruvan subject.

"All my friends are in Peru, I was raised there, and I decided that when I finished fighting—three years from now, I hope — I would return to Peru, buy a ranch and raise fighting bulls," Conchita explains.

Conchita was born in Antofogasta, Chile, on August 9, 1922. When a few months old, her family moved to Lima, where Conchita entered an American convent school.

Learned At Seven

At the age of seven she began to ride, her instructor being her present manager, Ruy da Camara, a Portuguese. She became such a good horsewoman that da Camara taught her the art of bullfighting from a horse. This requires expert riding ability, plus a perfectly trained horse, for in order to place the "banderillas," or barbed darts, in the fleshy part of the bull's neck, it is necessary to get close to the charging animal. The banderillas are attached to a pole to become a spear, the shaft of which detaches itself after the dart has been placed.

Conchita made trips to Mexico and Portugal with Senior da Camara and his wife, Asuncion da Camara, where she exhibited her skill as an amateur, but in 1939 she turned professional and thereafter learned to fight bulls afoot with the cape and the muleta.

Attractive Outfit

In her charro costume, with a stiff-brimmed Cordoba hat covering her straw-colored hair, Conchita presents a pretty picture on her horse. On foot, however, the boots limit her footwork (bull fighters use soft leather slippers), and she is not considered a first-class worker with the cape and muleta, the latter a red flag at which the bull is induced to charge while being prepared for the kill, and while being killed with the sword.

However, as a killer Conchita is cooly efficient. If she has a hard-charging bull her sword thrusts are strong and true—remarkably powerful for a 124-pound girl, who in an evening dress is pretty enough to command instant attention, even though she uses no cosmetics whatever.

Lots of Fan Mail

As a crowd-pleaser, Conchita is a sensation. When she smilingly circles the bull ring, her white teeth flashing, she is showered with flowers, hats and coats b y the crowd.

Conchita rivals a movie actress for fan mail. While in Bogota, she received 400 letters from ardent admirers.

However, the senorita is not in love. Her only interest is bull-fighting.

New "Poison Gun" Sudden Death For Pesky Coyotes

BY LEE FERRERO

MARTINSDALE, Mont. — The crafty coyote may have met its nemesis in a newly-developed automatic poison gun.

Most hounded predator of the west, the coyote has checkmated for decades every large-scale eradication measure until today he numbers an estimated 2,000,000. Ranchers and trappers say the new gun will trim the coyote population considerably.

Inventor Charles L. Wainwright of Martinsdale says he got the idea from years of trapping.

Like Bibycle Pump

He calls it simply: "the Wainwright coyote gun."

The gun looks like a bicycle pump. It is a rolled steel cylinder nine inches long, with a compensating spring near the head which gives it a flexibility allowing livestock and humans to step on it without discharging it. A harpoon anchor at the other end of the gun prevents it from being dislodged from the ground.

At the business end is a shell chamber and firing mechanism which holds a cartridge resembling a small shotgun shell, detonated on the same principle.

The cartridge's lethal mixture is potassium cyanide and phosphorus, propelled by a small powder charge.

"I insert the gun into the ground, covering the attached cartridge and cocked mechanism with rabbit fur—all of which is then sealed with paraffin to kill any human scent," says Wainwright "I attach the bait-covered shell to the firing slot and take it off safety. Then I apply a scent (the formula is a secret) with a brush.

"Should livestock step on or nuzzle the booby trap, the compensating spring bends, preventing discharge. It takes the hungry yank of a coyote's teeth to do the trick.

Gets Poison

"When a coyote edges up to the gun and grabs for the scented fur, he gets a throatful of poison. He may fall then or within 200 yards."

Oswald Berg, chairman of the predatory animal committee at Meagher county, Mont., says, "the gun has achieved such good results that I petitioned the WPB to give Wainwright priority on materials for production."

He got the priority rating.

Asked what happened when valuable sheep dogs were attracted to the weapon, Wainwright chuckled:

"I just load one of my guns around a sheep camp and give the dogs a 'treatment.' Instead of poison, I load a cartridge with cayenne pepper. One lesson for those smart pooches is enough; they never bother one of my guns again."

The Montana extension service says the weapon has proved "the most successful means of eliminating predatory animals that has ever been used by the department.

Stockmen, trappers and government agents say that unmarred pelts is another prime advantage. They believe the gun will remedy such situations as reported in these states:

New Mexico—State Game Warden Elliott Barker of Santa Fe complained most trappers had gone to war; booster coyote bounty per pelt to $8.

Cocky Coyotes

In South Pasadena, Calif., Police Chief Clifford Sharp was commissioned "chief coyote eradicator" after packs became so bold they killed pet dogs, howled defiance at passing streamlined trains, frightened children and advanced one night to within four blocks of the city hall.

Kansas and Oklahoma—in Woodard, Okla., and Kansas areas, mass attacks by thousands of hunters, aided by flying farmers and civil air patrol members, were organized to eradicate the coyote-menace to poultry and meat animals.

At Klamath Falls, Ore., near the northern California border, Fred Starr, veteran game warden of Dorris, Calif., said new vicious bands of "super coyotes"—a cross-breed of coyotes and renegade police dogs are preying on livestock and deer in shuttle attacks between boundary lines of the two states.

Tribe Takes Over Fourth On Double Win From Nationals

Reliefer Joe Heving Turns In Game-Saving Role For Sixth Win

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 24. — The Cleveland Indians were in fourth place today, thanks to the strong right arm of two veteran hurlers.

Relief Moundsman Joe Heving only grandfather in the major leagues, walked into the opener of yesterday's doubleheader with Washington to save a 4 to 3 decision for the Tribe. It was his sixth triumph against two defeats this season. Starter Al Smith came out in the seventh after giving up 10 hits. The Nationals gained three from Heving for a total of 13 safeties.

Mel Marder chalked up his 204th win when the Indians staved off a ninth-inning rally to take the nightcap 9 to 5.

The Tribe pulled its 100th double pay in the sixth inning, and completed three more to stall threatened rallies. The Indians are second to Detroit in American league twin killings.

Russ Peters provided the extra tingle needed to take the opener. His single with the bases loaded in the eighth inning accounted for two tallies—and the game.

Ed Klieman will face the Nats Early Wynn in today's game, before the Champion Yankees roll into town for a four-game series.

TODAY'S JEST STAR

Jack Durkin, Syracuse Herald-Journal: "The next major league team to appear against the Sampson Naval Base will be the Cincinnati Reds—and Johnny Vander Meer will appear against them—the best $54-a-month pitcher they'll ever face."

Answers to the 64-cent questions: No. 1—Babe Ruth; No. 2—Adolph Luque of Reds, lost 23 in 1922, won 27 in 1923.

RALLY SCORES FIVE RUNS FOR VISITORS HERE

Salem Leads 3 to 1 Until Splurge In Eighth In Sunday Game

After enjoying a 3-1 lead until the final innings the Salem Athletics were tagged for five runs in the eighth inning and went down to their seventh loss of the season, 6-3, before the Canton Spikers at Centennial park yesterday afternoon.

Before a turnout of some 400 fans, the Athletics played almost airtiiht ball until the eighth inning, when a triple by Pitcher Smith of Canton tallied three of the five markers and spelled the margin of victory.

Bill Allison, on the mound for Salem, turned in a good performance and left the game with the score all tied up 1-1. Although both squads ended the contest with eight hits, the Spiker safeties came at the right times, and coupled with a pair of walks in the eighth made the difference.

Snyder took over the mound duties in the eighth and was credited with the loss for Salem.

Smith Best Hitter

Strong at the plate for the Spikers was Pitcher Smith, who gathered a pair of hits in two times at bat and drove in three of the six runs. Al Catlos hit two times out of four and even took part in the pitching show late in the ninth inning.

The Spikers played perfect ball in the field but Salem had three miscues chalked.

This week two games are booked for Centennial park. Warren playing her Wednesday and Camp Reynolds Sunday. The Warren outfit is the same that handed Salem a 34-8 defeat last week. Camp Reynolds was recently booked and looms as one of the best to appear here this year.

Foxhole Hospital In France

Even a foxhole can serve as a field hospital in caring for the wounded in the fighting in France. The low mortality rate among American fighting men in the field can be attributed largely to the efficiency of Red Cross men serving with the troops. This Yank, wounded in the foot during action around Periers, France, is having his hurts attended in a foxhole near the front. (International Soundphoto).

BUTTER COSTS FOUR POINTS MORE TODAY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 24—Housewives pay four more ration points for each pound of creamery butter today, to meet a new ration value of 16 points set by the Office of Price Administration because of increased civilian consumption.

The increased ration value, effective yesterday, does not affect farm and processed butter. They continue at eight and four red points a pound, respectively. Consumption of creamery butter, OPA said, has been running 20 per cent over the July allocation of 100,000,000 pounds.

OPA also set price ceilings under which most wartime-produced gin now on the market will retail for 10 to 15 cents a fifth lower than prevailing prices. Domestic vodka will cost about 35 cents less. The schedule will be made effective soon.

The agency said that beginning Aug. 1, ration boards will not issue full supplemental gasoline rations for driving between home and work to motorists who fail to organize full-car clubs.

The senate committee on fuel oil shortages issued a report that there can be no increase in civilian supplies of gasoline and fuel oil until requirements for military purposes are decreased. The committee said that by careful handling of oil supplies, mild weather, and higher coal production, the country will barely get through next winter without suffering.

The War Food administration issued a statement giving "assurance that shell eggs purchased this year for producer price support purposes will not be 'dumped' on the domestic market."

The War production board, going ahead with its program to pave the way for ultimate reconversion of industry to consumer goods, gave permission for building models of postwar products embodying new materials and wartime improvements in design and technology.

Tragedy Mars Vacation Won By Columbus Man

COLUMBUS, July 24.—Raymond Cline, 27, a bread salesman, won a company contest and the prize was a two-day vacation at Buckeye lake.

The vacation began yesterday and Cline took his children—Clark 5, and Shirley 3,—for a ride in a motorboat operated by his brother, Maynard.

The boat upset and the children drowned. Cline, his brother and three other adults were rescued.

Jumps In Lake, Rescued

CLEVELAND, July 24. — Nearly 1,500 passengers aboard a moonlight lake cruiser yesterday watched its crew rescue a man who leaped 30 feet from the third deck of the ship "to prove he wasn't a coward."

About Town

Thefts Are Reported

Jesse Schaffer, tavern operator, reported that someone stole a meat rack Saturday afternoon after it had been placed out to dry.

ALLIES GAIN

With the mop-up of Maltot and Etavaux, British and Canadian troops tightened their hold on both sides of the Orne river south of Caen.

Emieville, five miles east of Caen, was wrested from the Germans yesterday. The Nazis had been directing heavy fire from this town against Allied tanks thrusting down the road toward Paris.

Allied staff officers estimated the Normandy fighting had cost the Germans 156,000 soldiers, including more than 60,000 prisoners. This indicated Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had lost the equivalent of 10 to 15 full divisions.

Of the 60,958 prisoners taken so far, the Americans captured 50,549. In addition, the Americans said they had buried 8,094 Germans. Calculating on the basis of five wounded to every man killed, 45,000 Germans were believed wounded on the American front.

RUTHLESS

planned to kill him. German uneasiness was underscored in these things which were left unsaid:

1. Not a single general on the eastern front, where the German armies have been reeling back toward their own borders, has come forward personally to pledge loyalty to the Fuehrer, though the Nazis claimed a blanket pledge.

2. With the exception of Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former German general staff chief, the names of the plotters—the "mad generals" described by Reichmarshal Hermann Goering—still have not been announced.

3. Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels, the most effective and probably the shrewdest of all Nazi orators, has not appeared once on the radio, nor has he been reported at any meetings with Hitler.

Berlin itself was reported quiet, though one Ankara report said the capital was under a curfew.

The Maritime Commission has constructed 4,441 cargo vessels and special craft of 35,694,153 deadweight tons from Aug. 1, 1937, to June 1, 1944.

Guam Leaders

IN COMMAND of the movements of American forces against Guam, 120 miles southwest of recently-captured Saipan, are Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly, top, and Marine Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger. Connolly directs the amphibious operations and operations of the great Fifth fleet, while Geiger commands the Marine and U. S. Army forces. (International)

U. S. MARINES

the island from Saipan. The Tinian airfield also was decommissioned during the constant attack on the island since the Marianas campaign began June 10.

Fighting was expected to be stiffer as the invaders proceeded inland. Tinian is not as rugged and mountainous as Guam and Saipan, but it has several tablelands which should afford the Japanese excellent defense positions.

Nimitz also announced that Lt. Gen. Holland F. Smith, U. S. Marine corps, has been promoted from commander of the Fifth amphibious corps to commanding general, Fleet Marine Forces of the Pacific, a new position.

Nimitz, reporting "substantial gains" on Guam, said casualties for the first three days and two nights, through Saturday, were 348 Americans killed, 1,500 wounded and 110 missing.

The Marine landings on west central Guam north and south of Port Apra, best anchorage in the Marianas, have isolated the harbor and the airfield on Orote peninsula, the harbor's southern arm.

NEW MERGER OF MATERIEL, SERVICE UNITS UNDERLINES U. S. AIR POWER

BY PAUL B. MASON

DAYTON, July 24.—The streamlining merger of the Materiel and Air service commands of the AAF, announced recently by the War department, underscores heavily two points widely accepted by inner councils of the Nation's high command:

That U. S. progress in the war—even with Victory still a faint gleam upon the horizon—is such that emphasis in airplane production henceforth can and shoud be placed on heavy bombers, particularly the new B-29 Superfortresses, and—

That aerial maintenance and supply problems in world-wide theaters now safely and easily can be handled in combination with other factors, rather than by an individual command, charged solely with such responsibility.

Transfer of Brig. Gen. Kenneth B. Wolfe, head of America's first roving aerial task force, the 20th Bomber command, to command the materiel division at Wright field, is a major straw in the wind in support of the first point.

Planned, Developed B-29s

It was Gen. Wolfe's B-29s which bombed Japan twice within three weeks. It was Wolfe who, when chief of the production division at Wright field, planned and developed the B-29 as America's first plane wholly conceived since Pearl Harbor. To Wolfe fell responsibility for shaking bugs from the big ships even when they came from assembly lines, and simultaneously training their flight and ground crews.

The War Production board has emphasized that although the total number of planes produced each month will drop, overall weight of airframes will increase. That's another way of saying that even though fewer planes are produced, the air force grows stronger, tougher and harder-hitting through extension of aerial radius of action.

That point alone would tend to indicate that a major turning point in grand strategy has been reached: Maintaining an adequate production of fighters and "medium" bombers, the U. S. new, figuratively, has leveled off what formerly would have been "deep ends" into landing strips from which we can strike farther and farther into both ends of the Axis.

The shift is considered widely by military men as paralleling in its way, the army's industrial readjustment program where contracts for items once of highest priority are being revised to permit tapering off on some, or changes on another.

Knudsen Heads New Unit

As to the "remarriage" of the ASC with the Material command, that, too, records, in fashion, the fact that America now marches a smoother road. The ASC was "divorced" in March, 1941, first as a provisional command which attained its full wartime status in November, 1942. It gave its special and uninterrupted attention to the business of aeria maintenance and supply in all theaters, from Alaska to Afghanistan and from Californit to New Caledonia.

It's record of achievement is nowhere better reflected than in reports indicating that airplanes graunded for lack of party average approximately three per cent and indeed, in some theaters, just half that figure.

Heading up the new organization—to be known as the Army Air Forces Materiel and Services—will be Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen, long dominant in America's peace-and-wartime economy. His deputy director will be Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, now acting commandant at Wright field, a short, stocky, black-mustached command pilot who has spent most of his last 25 years of army service in and around that principal test and experimental center of the AAF.

Lisbon Man's Car Stolen, Second Machine Looted

LISBON, July 24.—The sheriff's office is investigating the theft of a car owned by John Schragg, west of Lisbon, from its parking place near the Pondi tavern on the East Liverpool rd., about 11:15 p. m. Saturday. The machine, a Dodge coupe licensed L-301-N, was taken and a nearby car, belonging to Logan Ewing of W. Spruce st., was ransacked at the same time. A valuable camera was taken from the Ewing car.

The War Today

was beaten, the Prussian war-lords would insist on surrender to avoid disastrous defeat. If he didn't agree, it would mean a revolt.

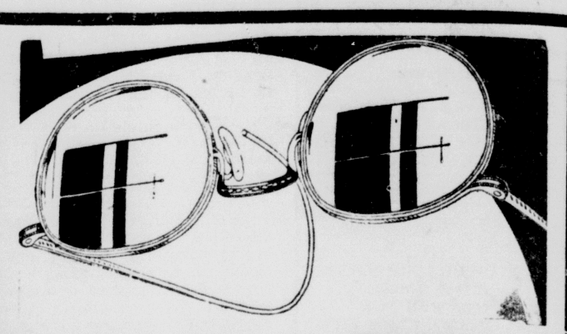

That's what happened in the last war. The Prussians declined to fight to the end and sought a peace which would give them a chance to prepare for another war. It was with this in mind that Hitler created the great, hand-picked army of fanatical Nazis who now are purging Germany under command of bloody-handed Gestapo Chief Himmler.

I think the fighting fronts will give us the best day-by-day gauge of the effects of the revolt.

New Sohio 100-Octane Refinery Supplies Millions of Gallons of Aviation Fuel Each Week

"SUPER FORTS BOMB JAPAN AGAIN!"
"6,000 ALLIED PLANES RAKE INVASION FRONT!"
"BERLIN HIT BY BIGGEST DAY-NIGHT RAID!"

. . . Headlines that trace the path to victory! Behind them are epic stories of men—and planes—and gasoline.

One story of historic importance is that of Sohio's giant new 100-octane refinery—now making possible 1500 fighter plane sorties daily over the Channel to the invasion front.

Sohio EX-TANES, powerful petroleum ingredients for stepping-up combat fuel, have long been flowing from all Sohio refineries. Now, this great new plant in Cleveland adds millions more gallons a week to Standard Oil's aviation fuel output.

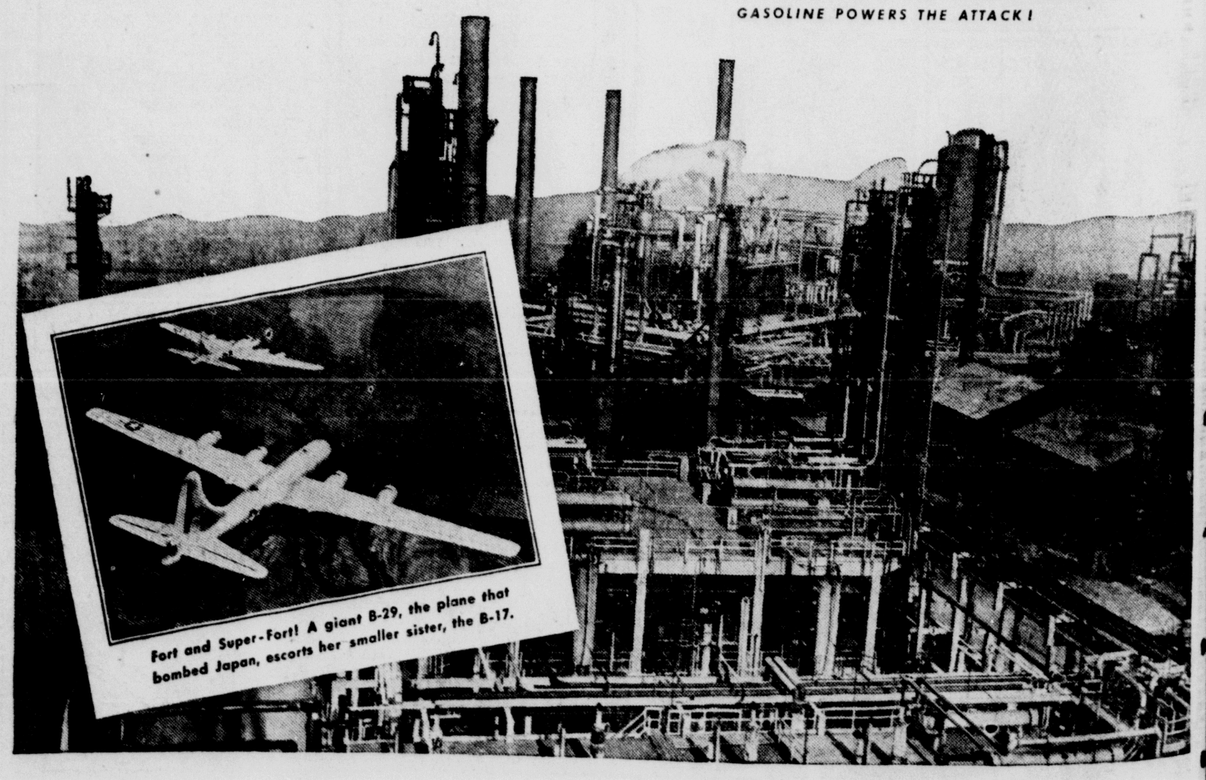

The Allies' relentless air attack calls for fabulous and unprecedented quantities of aviation gasoline. These requirements must be met—will be met. Sohio and Sohio workers pledge there will be no let-up in 100-octane production.

When peace comes again, these advanced refining facilities and the experience gained in making super fighting fuels will bring Ohioans the finest Sohio gasolines ever made.
